THE GLOBAL ENCYCLOPAEDIA
OF INFORMALITY

EDITED BY ALENA LEDENEVA

Prof. Alena Ledeneva (University College London) is an internationally renowned expert on informality and governance. Her books Russia's Economy of Favours (1998), How Russia Really Works (2006), and Can Russia Modernize? (2013) have become must-read sources in Russian studies and social sciences. Her latest co-edited volumes include Innovations in Corruption Studies (2017) and The Global Encyclopedia of Informality (2018). She received her PhD in Social and Political Theory from Cambridge University (1996). She is a founding director of the Global Informality Project (www.in-formality.com) and a founder of the UCL Press FRINGE series.
