

SYMPOSIUM: TRAVERSING BORDERS IN SEARCH OF FOOD

Human beings have crossed social and ecological borders for millennia, to grow, harvest or catch their food. This symposium, presenting different case studies from communities in East Asia, will look to the past as a way of exploring potential solutions for sustainable resource management in food production on land and sea.

Chair: Professor Pablo Ramos, Javeriana University, Colombia

Discussant: Professor Juan Ricardo Gomez, Javeriana University, Colombia

MC: Dr. Iain Hall, Island Sustainability Unit (ISU), Sophia University, Japan

Special Presentations:

1- Japanese free diver communities at a crossroads: conflicting narratives from Mie and Ishikawa of technological innovation, trade-off decisions gone good and bad, gender and migration.

- Professor Anne McDonald, Sophia University, Japan

2- Tales from two Inner-Mongolian pastoral communities.

- PhD student Tana, Sophia University, Japan

3- Japan's territorial expansionism and its implication in traditional food systems in the Pacific Islands.

- PhD student Erika Salazar, Sophia University, Japan

Closing remarks: Professor Guangwei Huang, Institute for Studies of the Global Environment, Sophia University, Japan

Date: 22nd February 2022

Time: 21:00 – 22:30 (JST)

Online: <https://sophia-ac-jp.zoom.us/j/94848468572>

Meeting ID: 948 4846 8572

Passcode: 653381

上智大学
SOPHIA UNIVERSITY

Sophia University

ISGE

Institute for Studies of the Global Environment

ISLAND
SUSTAINABILITY
UNIT

